Daily Research Reports

Good Morning & Welcome to Tuesday's trading session at Dalal Street, dated March 26th 2024.

Caution will continue to be the buzzword as big traders will spy with one big eye between optimism and caution in assessing the Federal Reserve's inflation fight — and the future.

So, commanding attention to investors will be the core personal consumption expenditure (PCE) index which will trickle in on Friday, March 29th.

The Fed's next policy meeting is April 30-May 1 and then all eyes will be on June 11-12th FOMC Meeting.

Outlook on Tuesday: An Up and Down Session is Quite Likely.

Please note, the FOMC outlook for three quarter-point rate cuts this year, which ideally benefits emerging markets like India.

But we suspect, the street is getting ahead of itself as Fed rate cut in June is not yet a done deal

We say so because, the January and February US consumer inflation readings were bit sticky and hence Fed will be data dependent until rising inflation is off the front pages.

That brings us to our call of the day which suggests Nifty Bulls are likely to turn hesitant on any excessive intraday bounce as mild profit booking could be the order of the day.

Bottom-line: Modest corrective declines do not guarantee bears day out. We suspect, Nifty bulls may regroup at lower levels.

Our stock markets will be closed on Friday, March 29th in observance of Good Friday.

ECONOMIC CUES:

Federal Reserve held interest rate steady at a 23-year high of 5.25%-5.5% for the fifth consecutive time.

Chair Jerome Powell's comments at the press conference suggested policymakers are not deterred by the strong labor market or recent higher-than-expected inflation.

He mentioned that strong hiring alone wouldn't delay rate cuts and noted easing in overall price growth.

The key highlights from FOMC meeting:

- 1) The US economy has made considerable progress.
- 2) Inflation has eased substantially.
- 3) The path forward is uncertain.
- 4) US GDP has been bolstered by strong consumer demand as well as healing supply chains.
- 5) FOMC participants expect rebalancing in labor market to continue.
- 6) Longer-term inflation expectations remain well-anchored.
- 7) The Fed needs greater confidence of inflation moving sustainably down before we cut rates.

GLOBAL STOCK MARKETS:

In yesterday's trade at Wall Street, US stocks mostly slipped as investors began a shortened trading week in a cautious manner.

The Federal Reserve's preferred inflation metric Friday is the week's main event, although stock and bond markets will be closed that day in observance of Good Friday.

The core personal consumption expenditure (PCE) index will be significant for investors, particularly after the Fed's March meeting last week. The central bank still forecasts three rate cuts this year and officials will be closely watching their favored inflation metric to see if it alters that view at all.

PP : Pivot Point : This is trigger point for weekly buy/sell based on the price range of the previous week.
R1 : Resistance one : 1st Resistance over PP. R2 : Resistance two : 2nd Resistance over R1.
S1 : Support one : 1st support after PP. S2 : Support Two : 2nd support after S1.

As per the tool, the trader should take BUY position just above PP and keep the stop loss of PP and the first target would be R1.
If R1 is crossed then R2 becomes the next target with the stop loss at R1.

Similarly if price goes below PP the trader should SELL and keep the PP as Stop loss and the first target would be S1.

If S1 is crossed then S2 becomes the next target with the stop loss at S1.
This is a trading tool. The key to use of this tool is the use of STOP LOSS.
